Milestones
19th February 2017

Summary

Document explains briefly the DNA Electronic ID^{®™} Group milestones.

Past

Person was identified by look, by plastic card and by memorized information though carrying biometric ids all around the human body.

Now

Biometric technology exists, everyone is forgetting ancient ids at home while supposed to identify themselves tens of times per day and sensitive biometric information is scattered around the world.

Tomorrow

Biometric information is stored following secure standards around the world and access to the sensitive information follows global standards.

After

No one will remember such words as wallet, driving license, passport or credit card.
